Jeanne Clery Act

Jeanne Clery
1966 - 1986

"Lest We Forget The Meaning of her Death, That We Must Protect One Another, So That Her Life Will Not Have Been In Vain."

On April 5, 1986, a male student entered a dormitory gaining access through three doors with automatic locks that were propped open. Jeanne Clery was asleep in her dorm room when the male student entered her room with the intention to burglarize it. During the burglary Jeanne woke up. The student, who had been drinking all night, raped and strangled Jeanne. In 1988 Pennsylvania enacted the first law requiring all colleges and universities to annually make public three years of crime statistics. The Campus Security Act followed on August 1, 1991, which was later renamed the Jeanne Clery Act. This revised law requires colleges and universities to publish an annual report detailing security policies, and three years of campus crime statistics for certain offenses. Educational institutions with police or security agencies must keep a public crime log, and alert students and staff of timely warnings for crimes that pose an ongoing threat.
