SAFETY TIPS FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS!

- “Date Rape” – An unfortunate statistic is that 90 per cent of rapes occur between people who already knew each other and that approximately half of rapes happen on dates. The Journal of Studies on Alcohol reports that more than 70,000 students between the ages of 18 and 24 have been victims of alcohol-related sexual assault. An illegal drug in the U.S. is Rohypnol, the “date rape drug” that can be slipped into a drink. It causes drowsiness, loss of coordination, dizziness and memory loss. Never take drinks from other people, and don’t leave your drink unattended! Don’t take the chance. Be sure when you go out to tell someone you trust the name of your date, destination, and planned time of return. Take your cell phone and money for a cab just in case.
- Stay with a group. – You are responsible for your own safety. Get acquainted with people you trust and feel comfortable with. If something doesn’t seem quite right with a new date, remove yourself from the situation. Usually your instincts tell you that you are taking a chance.
- Avoid excessive alcohol. You can have a good time without drinking so much that it alters your personality. You will like yourself tomorrow much better if you don’t overdo it the night before.
- Take a self-defense class. – Chances are you will have to take a gym class, so ask if there are self-defense classes. It could be the smartest thing you ever do. Think about carrying self-defense devices such as pepper sprays, tasers (if legal), or personal alarms. Know how to use these types of devices and be committed to using them should a dangerous situation occur. Through preparation and awareness you will enjoy increased “peace of mind” and confidence knowing you are protected.
- Be aware of internet predators. - Practice computer safety, either at home or away at college. Never give out your personal information to someone online that you don’t know, and be cautious about what you say to a stranger.
- Use the “buddy system” anytime you can. – Whether crossing campus, shopping in a mall, going out to eat, or going to a bar, don’t go alone, if possible. There is power in numbers, so make that your policy.
- Never go to an ATM at night, or alone.
- Pay attention to everything around you. – A fun idea is to give yourself and a friend a test walk past someone to see how well you could describe them if something happened. It may surprise you how much you don’t remember, or the different way you and your friend describe them.
- Make copies of important papers.- Your credit cards, health ID cards, etc., should be stored in a safe place. Leave a copy at home.
- Last but not least on our list, don’t drink and drive or text and drive!
