Project Clothesline: Show your support for friends, family members, and all survivors who have been affected by sexual assault. Create a t-shirt to hang on our Clothesline. View the shirts as they will be displayed on both CHC & SBVC campus.

CHC: Displayed in the Quad off lot D
SBVC: Displayed in front of the Student Life

What Can You Do

1. Be supportive. Really listen to the survivor.
2. Be patient and non-judgmental. Don't give your time table for "getting over it".
3. Don't pry and ask for details and specifics, allow the survivor to give this information if and when they are ready.
4. Help the survivor to get medical attention if needed. Help them locate competent counseling if they desire to talk to someone (contact Sexual Assault Services for help/referrals).
5. Allow the survivor to make their own decision about reporting, counseling, etc.
6. Recognize your own limitations in dealing with someone you care about, you will experience a wide range of feelings. Try to remember that the survivor's feelings and needs are MOST important right now, not yours.
7. Put the anger and frustration where it belongs and not on the victim.
8. Seek counseling help for yourself. You may need to talk to someone about your feelings.

Remember, the victim has done nothing wrong!
Make sure you and the victim know that.

The impact of Project Clothesline has been widespread, thus realizing our goal to expand the Project across this nation and beyond. As of 2001, there are "Clotheslines" in over 500 communities and several foreign countries.

Come join the movement! Create a shirt at the tables on campus on the below dates & times:

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS

This Week: CHILDREN in emergencies. Infants and children have some needs that differ from adults. Babies might need formula, diapers, bottles, powdered milk, medications, moist towelettes, diaper rash ointment, bibs, and several changes of clothing. Young children might like coloring books, crayons, books, games, puzzles, toys, stuffed animals, and extra clothes. Children may be frightened in a disaster so keeping them comforted and occupied is important for their well-being. For more information check out www.ready.gov/kids.
