Homeless Access Center Approved

After months of deliberation, the council approved to open a service access center for the homeless in the northeast corner of Seccombe Lake Park. It is planned to be housed in a city-owned building called the Butler Building. The center aims to provide various services at a single location, and is limited to homeless residents of San Bernardino.

Initially presented as part of the Homeless Intervention Action Plan, the City estimated nearly 2,000 unsheltered homeless persons residing within its city borders. The Access Center will address four basic areas: (1) homelessness prevention programs; (2) central drop-in/access center; (3) emergency shelter/treatment/initial services and (4) permanent housing.

The San Bernardino Police confirmed homelessness as always the main complaint at community meetings they hold. The program, once properly implemented, will help deter these community issues, and at the same time be able to address and uphold the safety of homeless folks. Back in February 2014, Police Chief Burguan initiated “Jumpstart Downtown”, a core initiative to make contact with the homeless population. They were able to identify the needs of the understudy and offer necessary assistance.

While not only benefitting the homeless in the City, the central drop in centers will permit the Police Department to handle the homeless in need efficiently and effectively. As having a “wrap-around” service provider is necessary to prevent a revolving door effect of homelessness. A one-stop service facility that will determine the next steps to rehabilitate the homeless will also allow alignment of public funding and re-evaluation of non-profit service providers to assist in the long-term solution of providing permanent housing for the homeless population.

The law enforcers will play an important role as the program recommends to authorize SBPD to institute a 90-day City-wide count of homeless population. For the law enforcers, it would mean establishing and enforcing proper vagrancy, panhandling, and loitering ordinances.
