WOMEN'S HISTORY MONTH

In honor of women throughout our state and around the country, the San Bernardino Community College District Police Department (SBCCD PD) is highlighting the history of women in law enforcement. The State of California has always been a leader when it comes to women in law enforcement appointing the first sworn policewoman, Alice Stebbins Wells, with powers to arrest. A graduate theology student and seasoned social worker, Wells saw the need for women in "modern" police work and worked to secure the signatures of many prominent citizens on a petition, which was submitted to the Los Angeles City Council to adopt an ordinance providing for a

Los Angeles Policewoman.

On September 12, 1910, Wells was officially appointed to the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD). Officer Wells was issued Policeman's Badge #1! Wells went on to accomplish great milestones for women police officers. Wells founded the International Association of Women Police (www.iawp.org) in 1915, which continues to provide a forum for exchanging ideas and encouraging the use of women in important law enforcement roles. Instrumental in creating the UCLA Criminology Department's first class specifically dealing with the work of women officers in 1918, Wells co-founded the Women Peace Officers' Association of California in 1928 and served as its first president. In 1934, she was appointed the Los Angeles Police Department historian, a position she held until her retirement on November 1, 1940, after 30 years of service. This pioneering policewoman died August 17, 1957, at the age of 84.

EARLY GROUNDBREAKER TIMELINE

- 1845: Flora Foster was appointed as one of two women matrons at the New York City Prison (the Tombs) and served in that capacity for thirty-six years until her death in 1882.
- 1890: Marie Owens was one of the first known appointed policewomen in Chicago, Illinois.
- 1908: Lola Baldwin was the first sworn female police officer, hired by Portland, Oregon.
- 1916: Constance Kopp was officially hired as New Jersey's first female deputy sheriff, after serving as jail matron and capturing an escaped fugitive at a Brooklyn subway stop in late 1915.
- 1920: Myrtle Siler was elected sheriff in Pittsboro, North Carolina.
- 1946: Josephine Serrano joined the LAPD, becoming the first known Latina policewoman.
- 1972: Tanya Padgett, Martha Parks, and Tommie Stewart were sworn in as full-time police officers in Ann Arbor, Michigan, one of the first cities in the country to take this step after changes in employment law in 1972 made it illegal for police departments to discriminate on the basis of gender.
- 1985: Penny Harrington became the first female police chief of a major city in Portland, Oregon.
- 2004: Heather Fong became first the first Asian American woman to serve as police chief of a major city in San Francisco, California.
