CD100: Introduction to Child Development

* Please note: This course is only offered through articulation with High School programs, ROP and Adult Ed. This course has not been offered at Valley College since 2007.

1. Students will demonstrate the ability to identify the components of a quality early childhood program by reviewing these components in lecture and textbook materials and correctly identifying them on multiple choice exams.
2. Students will demonstrate the ability to identify early childhood program types, ECE philosophies and some basic theories in early childhood education by presenting reports or on written exams.
3. Students will be able to discuss and identify current trends in the field of early childhood education by completing assigned readings and in-class assignments and correctly identifying these trends in written papers or on exams.